Athletic Development Training

Athletic Development is not just for high school, college and professional athletes. Scientific research has concluded it takes eight to twelve years of training for a talented athlete to reach elite levels (Bloom, 1985; Ericsson et al., 1993; Ericsson and Charness, 1994). This training needs to be done in stages that take advantage of certain "critical times" when it is best to develop certain physical qualities. Those physical qualities include balance, body awareness, movement skills, general fitness, coordination and agility, injury prevention, and self-confidence. Call the Crown Point Parks Department at 661-2271 to register today!
